Fairfield College
Preparatory School

A Jesuit, Catholic School of Excellence

Dear Alumni, Parents, and Friends of Fairfield Prep,

The Irish Jesuit poet Gerard Manley Hopkins (1844-89) said it so well in one of his famous poems: "The world is charged with the grandeur of God. It will flame out, like shining from shook foil;"

One of the tasks of Jesuit education is to help students become attentive to God's presence in their lives and in their world, so that they develop a life habit of responding to this presence with their talents, gifts and skills as a man or woman for others. In this issue you'll learn more about the Prep Fine Arts program. Our Prep artists are indeed learning to use their eyes, hearts and hands to interpret the world for themselves and for others by shining brightly to proclaim God's grandeur.

According to St. Ignatius of Loyola, by becoming more attentive to God's presence in the mundane and the magnificent leads us to gratitude. And when we feel this way, we are moved to share our experience in love and in generous service of which many Prep alumni demonstrate so often in their daily lives.

Thus I am very pleased to announce that we are establishing a new alumni award: the St. Ignatius of Loyola Alumni Award. Please read the description below, and consider nominating a Prep alumnus who you feel exemplifies the Jesuit ideals from our school. We will present the award at one of Prep's school liturgies in order that our current students, faculty and staff may truly become edified by the real genuineness of one of our Prep Man for Others.

You will also find the Annual Report 2008-2009 in this issue. I am continually humbled by the generosity of so many who help to shape who we are at Fairfield Prep. Thank you so much. Your support of our important mission manifest in so many ways is a real testimony to the great school we are and the wonderful community we continue to evolve in emitting the grandeur of God. May you and your loved ones be blessed with a New Year that is filled with wonder and gratitude!

REGIONAL WRAP-UP The fall has been a busy season for Fairfield Prep Alumni. Chicago and Atlanta alumni attended baseball games and our Business Breakfast Series came home to Fairfield County with Nick Perna '60, noted economist. ▶ The Alumni Office traveled to Phoenix, Washington, D.C., Boston, Tampa and Miami. ▶ More travels are underway as the Central and South Florida Chapters get set for their kick off receptions in the first half of 2010. ▶ A Miami area reception was held in January at South Beach. ▶ The Tampa area will follow in May with a reception. ▶ The November Washington reception was a great success and alumni are feverishly working on setting up an event for this winter. ▶ The Washington trip also included a pizza lunch with Father Hanwell, S.J., where area college students got to meet with their former classmates and friends. Students from both Georgetown and George Washington Universities came. ▶ Prep Crew traveled to Boston to compete in the Head of the Charles, one of the country's most prestigious Head races. Alumni and current parents watched from the riverbanks. ▶ The Boston Day of Service was a success as Prep alums gathered to serve lunch to over 200 guests in need at the Pine Street Inn. ▶ Alumni will be gathering for additional service projects at the Merton Center and Columbus House in Connecticut. ▶ Alumni just recently gathered in New York City for a holiday reception at O'Casey's; John Brennan, John Hanrahan and Lou Saracco joined alums for a few drinks and plenty of cheer. ▶ The annual Fairfield Prep Holiday Classic Basketball tournament continues to get stronger each year. ▶ Our Spring Event is set for May 1 and we encourage all alumni to come to this annual dinner and auction run by our wonderful parent committee. The Arts are Alive and Well and Living at Prep

By Frank Bramble and Dolores Tema, Fine Arts teachers

It is easy to see that the arts are alive and well at Prep, alive with exciting performances, great art, a committed faculty, and irrepressible students. For nearly forty years Prep has recognized the importance of the arts for our students, our school and for the big, wide world out there.

Did you know that a study by the College Entrance Examination Board found that students who studied arts and music scored significantly higher than the national average on the Scholastic Aptitude Test? Students who had participated in acting, play production, music performance and appreciation, drama appreciation, and art history, scored an average of 31 to 50 points higher on their math and verbal sections (from Learning Through the Arts by Dee Dickinson).

As a Jesuit school, Prep continually engages in a process of self examination asking ourselves “what is the best for our students?” This application of critical thinking is the same process we teach in the arts.

When an artist engages in his work, be it in the performing, visual, or the written arts, it is all about the experience, the reflection, and then the action. It’s very ... Jesuit, very Ignatian.

St. Ignatius Loyola was a critical thinker so it is no wonder that there is an affinity between the critical methodology we use in the arts and the methodology of Jesuit education. We have quite a tradition to live up to.

While our only requirement for art is in freshman year (a choice of either music, drama or visual art), a student may elect to continue taking art classes all the way through to his senior year. Exciting things happen all along the journey.

Ours is a performance and visual based curriculum. Two play performances, multiple concerts each year, both in the imposing venue of Fairfield University’s Regina A. Quick Center and New York’s Lincoln Center, and at the end of the year an enormous art show in Arrupe Hall — all evidence of the number of creative students engaged in the arts at Prep.

May we suggest that the next time you see a movie with a favorite actor, admire an exhibit of someone’s stunning paintings, have the clever work of a graphic artist catch your eye, walk into an architect’s sleek new building, or settle into your seat at a concert, ask yourself this question — “Is that a Prep Grad?” The answer could very well be “Yes!”

Music

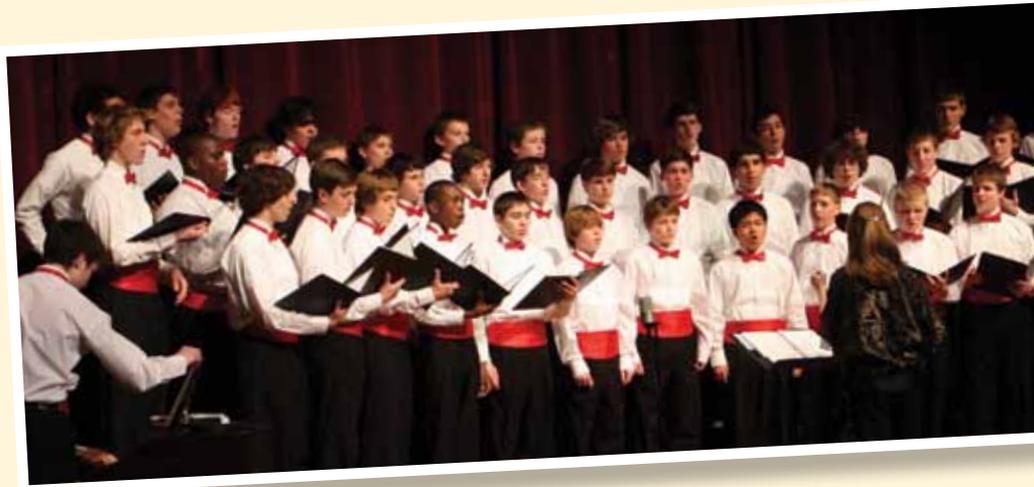

By Christine Dominquez, Music Director

The Introduction to Music class, which focuses on learning how to read music and how to sing, most recently finished a transcription project which involved listening to a piece of music and writing out the rhythm. Normally a college-level exercise, Prep students mastered it effortlessly! They performed their semester project piece with the Select Chorus at the Quick Center for their Christmas Concert. Select Chorus has developed from singing two-part harmonies accompanied by a piano, to four-part harmonies performed a cappella. Currently we are preparing the music for our spring performance at Avery Fisher Hall.

The Symphonic and Concert Bands have increased in quantity, quality, and ability with their greatest accomplishment so far being their incredibly successful performance at Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall on December 9.

Other notable accomplishments include:

- Students being involved in the following audition-only groups: Greater Bridgeport, Norwalk, and Stamford Youth Orchestras, and the Fairfield County Children's Chorus.
- Members of the Prep Band performing in China for the 2008 Olympics opening ceremonies.
- Recent Prep graduates Dylan Miraglia '09, Michael Miraglia '09, and Tim DeMarco '09 continuing their studies in music at Ithaca College and Marquette University respectively.
- Students participating in various jazz and orchestral 2009 summer music camps at NYU and Julliard.

Drama

By Megan Hoover, Fine Arts Chair

By midnight on the evening of their final performance, the cast of Don't Drink the Water find themselves standing in an empty black room. There is a sense of sadness and accomplishment as they survey the now bare black box theatre. It is strange to see the space vacant after the three month's worth of energy that they brought there. This moment, at the conclusion of each show, is part of what makes the art of theatre so special.

Each year Prep Players, the theatre ensemble on campus, presents two productions at the Regina A. Quick Center for the Arts. While we hope that each performance entertains our audience, it is not the only end that we work towards.

Mike Brelsford '07, working towards his teaching certification at Fairfield University, remembers working on productions at Prep. "For me, the goal of each performance was to inspire the audience. In my coming semester of student teaching, I will have the same goal in front of the classroom, and I know I will use a lot of what I learned on stage."

Theatre is a collaborative art; therefore, the idea of working as an ensemble becomes a crucial element of the process. The members must be able to rely on one another, and we cultivate a feeling of trust through games and exercises. They learn that they succeed and fail together.

Students are exposed to a variety of plays and musicals — from the classic Guys and Dolls to the quirky Lucky Stiff. Theatre offers us a lens through which we can examine the world around us and it is important that the works also speak to contemporary issues. Four years ago, we presented Dead Man Walking in conjunction with the seniors' Social Justice curriculum as a means of facilitating dialogue about the death penalty. In the midst of the presidential election, Prep Players rehearsed 43 Plays for 43 Presidents. This production provided both cast and audience a window into the history and humanity of the office of the President.

A political science major at Cambridge University, Richard Johnson '09 credits his time studying theatre at Prep with developing his skills as a writer and speaker. "I not only learned how to become a better actor; I learned about history, language, culture, literature, and communication. In studying what makes an audience tick and through working with an ensemble, I gained insight into human relationships. In spending countless hours developing my characters before a performance, I learned crucial lessons about human nature. Through studying the director's role, I have learned vital lessons about leadership, management, and diplomacy. As I look to a future in politics and government, I know that the skills which I have developed through my education in Prep's theatre program will remain critically valuable throughout my life."

There is something amazing about the fact that theatre is created during a fleeting exchange between actor and audience. The students know that they have been a part of something that can never be recreated or altered, and they will carry these experiences with them for years to come.

Visual Arts

By Frank Bramble and Dolores Tema,
Fine Arts teachers

In the visual art classes, students not only get in touch with their creative side, they also study art history and learn the needed "language" of critical methodology. It is not unusual for visual art classes to take place at the Walsh Gallery at The Regina A. Quick Center. There they view contemporary art work and engage in discussions of an artist's style and the meaning of the work. By the end of their freshman year, our visual art students have produced a portfolio, and considered the importance art has for the individual and for the many cultures, both historical and contemporary, studied during the year.

Visual arts courses include: Visual Arts, Drawing and Painting, Advanced Art Techniques, Studio Art III, and Architectural Drafting and Design.

We continue to place our students in some of the nation's best art and architecture programs. From Syracuse to the Maryland Art Institute, Prep students are a part of America's future in the arts.

Reflection by Max Rein '11

In June 2009 I attended the ND Vision Conference. This exciting retreat took place at Notre Dame University. It was a week filled with new experiences, new friends, and new ways of becoming closer to God. The week was busy, filled with ten sessions with speakers giving new insights and senses of who we are, and how we can live our life with God as our first priority.

The week was also...a BLAST. We had plenty of free time where we were able to create new friendships which will last a lifetime. One evening we participated in a scavenger hunt searching for clues all over Notre Dame's campus. My fellow "Prep Brothers" in attendance included Sean Keane '11, Ryan Brennan '11, Connor Marr '10, Frank Lupariello '10, Kevin Leitao '10, Cody Bilcheck '11, Johnny Garcia '11, Chris DiMuzio '11, Matt Considine '11, Tim Culligan '11, Chris Walsh '10, and Patrick Benedosso '11. We had an amazing time meeting new people from all over the country, spending countless hours talking, playing football, Frisbee, and other fun and great activities.

At some sessions we broke down into small groups which included a retreat leader, and an actual student of Notre Dame. This was where we were able to connect with others and share our deep experiences with each other. These retreat leaders also gave "faith talks" in our sessions where they shared personal experiences on our daily topics.

My favorite experiences from the retreat included the Speakers and Reconciliation. After receiving Penance, the Priest gave me a special prayer which I will never forget, "Come Holy Spirit, Kindle in me, the power of your love." It taught me to love my family more, my friends more, and God more. I learned the three important L's of life: Live your life; Lead your life; Love your life.

Lenny, our director, also was a speaker at one of our sessions. He discussed the Saints, our Models of Faith. A little boy he knew told Lenny that he didn't know who the people were on stained glass windows in churches. Lenny replied, "Those are saints." The little boy then went out and told everyone, "Saints, they're the people that let the light shine through." It is a simple, yet complex statement because they physically and metaphorically let their light shine through.

Another speaker told us about how she felt no one truly loved her. Then she found God. She said, "Your deepest fear is not that you are inadequate. Your deepest fear is that you are powerful beyond measure." It is so true that we are all powerful in God's love and that we can truly say the only life we have is God's life in us.

ND Vision 2009 was an outstanding experience and I surely hope you will join me and my other Prep Brothers for another remarkable experience at ND Vision next year.

SPAIN Summer Immersion

In June and July of 2010 Fairfield Prep students will again be traveling to Spain for a 4 week immersion language program in Madrid. This unique opportunity is open to students of Spanish of all levels who have a B average. This will be the fourth consecutive summer that Prep has sponsored this program. Students who have participated have benefited in a wide variety of ways: obviously their command of the language increases radically, but more than just that, the participants mature in responsibility, poise and self confidence. Included in the four weeks of study are a wide variety of cultural activities and it is capped off by a five day tour of Andalucia. Information on this program will be available in January 2010. Look for an email or contact Ms. Deirdre Magner, dmagner@fairfieldprep.org for more information.

APPALACHIA Immersion

Excerpts from reflection by Kyle Piscioniere '11

On this trip we learned that helping someone does not mean they are less of a person than you. We all need help at some time and some more than others. Every person sees themselves in those they help; this stirs compassion in the helper. Whether we were planting a garden in a community center to feed those in need or painting an old train car that stood as a town landmark we came to understand the words of Jesus, "whatever you do to the least of these you do unto me." Never before have I bonded with a group on so many levels. Never before have I done so much work and honestly enjoyed it for both its nature and its purpose.

JAMAICA Service Immersion Trip

Reflection by Sean Donoghue '11

This July, seven Prep students, two faculty, and one alumni traveled to Montego Bay, Jamaica for a service trip. The group served a charity called Mustard Seed Communities, which provides aid to disabled and abandoned children. The Prep group stayed at Blessed Assurance, a compound that houses 46 disabled children.

Every morning at 5:30 a.m. we helped the staff get the children ready for the day. We had time to bond with and get to know them. At devotion time we sang hymns and read scriptures. Next the heavy labor would begin. We completed a wide range of projects including digging a trench, and clearing and organizing a storage room. A highlight was putting the finishing touches on the Blessed Assurance Chapel, which had been under construction for over a year. We commemorated this milestone occasion with an inaugural mass celebrated by our own Fr. Larry Ryan, S.J.

Overall, our Jamaican experience was very eye-opening and touching. The children, the dedicated caregivers, and the impoverished country of Jamaica touched all of our hearts. After a long week of dedicated service, the Prep group returned home more than satisfied with their effort.

Participants included: J.J. Hubert '11, Paul Sikora '11, Mark Rodas '11, Sean Donoghue '11, James Shea '11, Kenny Duque '11, Sebastian Dumoulin '10, Kevin Foley '04, Elliott Gualtiere, Director of Campus Ministry, and Fr. Larry Ryan S.J., Student Chaplain. This service trip was a large success and Fairfield Prep plans to return to Blessed Assurance with another group next year.

Bellarmino Guild presents $71,000 gift to Prep

At the Bellarmino Guild Annual Fall Luncheon and Shopping Extravaganza, "Fall into Fun," past presidents of the Guild presented Fr. Jack Hanwell, S.J. with a check in the amount of $71,000 with an additional gift in kind. Colleen Busby and Jean Moore were delighted to give Fairfield Prep this amount on behalf of the 2008-2009 Bellarmino Board. The Fall Luncheon was held on November 18, 2009 at the Racebrook Country Club in Orange.

Students participate in Ignatian Family Teach-In Fairfield Prep took part in the Ignatian Family Teach-In in November. Prep students Joe Burgess '10, Omar Cardona '10, Quinn Rooney '10, Harry Whiteley '10, Carmine Urciuoli '10, Sam Anim '11, and Andrew Passarelli '11, accompanied by Mr. Jon DeRosa, Father Larry Ryan, S.J. and Mr. Tom Sacerdote, set out on the road to the Teach-In in Columbus, Georgia by way of the Martin Luther King National Historic Site in Atlanta. They took part in this annual conference dealing with peace and social justice issues. Since 1995, Jesuits, former Jesuits, lay pastoral leaders, and the broader Ignatian family have gathered at the gates of Fort Benning, GA, to call for the closure of the School of the Americas (SOA) and to commemorate the deaths of the Salvadoran Jesuit martyrs, their housekeeper and her daughter, the four churchwomen, and the many other men, women, and children who have been innocent victims of civil war and bloodshed.

School Happenings

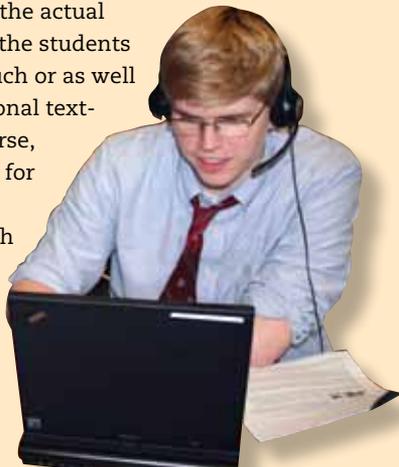

Not your father's textbook

As a new technology initiative at Prep, four sections of classes are working in a tablet PC lab. The Xavier Hall computer lab is operational, using integrated learning with listening and speaking. Teachers Maureen Bohan (math), Connie Carrington (French), and Jen Mauritz (French) are utilizing this new non-textbook approach to gain student interactivity and feedback. Connie Carrington relates her experience with language:

"The students are 'liberated' from a traditional hard-cover textbook, having access to a website with the entire textbook with point of reference links to two workbooks, videos, audio files, tests and quizzes. The Basic French class meets in our new tablet PC lab every day and can access all the material anywhere there is an internet connection. No more forgetting a book or losing a workbook!

If a student wants to hear a word pronounced, all he has to do is click and he hears it. He can access the grammar videos as often as he wishes. The on-line quizzes and tests, with plenty of writing exercises, are corrected by me and permanently available for the students. What is still unclear is the actual outcome—are the students learning as much or as well as with traditional textbooks? Of course, what I'd like is for them to learn and love French more!"

The Spirit of Christmas overflows for Toy Drive

Sports Night featuring Chris "MAD DOG" Russo from SiriusXM Radio was held on November 10 in Prep's Brissette Gymnasium. The "Mad Dog" was A-W-E-S-O-M-E!!! Over 400 Prep fathers, sons and faculty were on hand for a night of good food, fun and fellowship. Planning is underway for the 2010 Sports Night and the Fathers' Club looks forward to seeing you there. They thank the many parents and friends of Prep who donated prizes to the raffle and auction. The event raised approximately $40,000 to benefit Fairfield Prep.

National Merit Scholars

Fairfield Prep is proud to announce recognition of eight seniors based on the PSAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test taken in their junior year. Brendan Bercik was named a National Merit Scholarship semifinalist, and seven students were commended in the National Merit Scholarship Program. Over one million students from across the nation entered the competition by taking the test, and the Prep winners were selected based on top performance in the highly competitive state of Connecticut.

Prep goes green with recycling initiative

On November 6, members of the student body, under the direction of the Student Government, placed recycling bins in every classroom and office, as well as near every copy machine. The recycling campaign involves students from the Science Club, the Political Awareness Society, the Environmentalist Club, and the Student Government. Because a school's waste is mostly composed of paper products, the students believe recycling paper will greatly cut down on our carbon footprint and also cut down costs when it comes to waste dumping. The first bin pick-up was on November 13. Helping out, shown from left: Andrew Golankiewicz '10, Ryan Cahalane '10, Matt Fornshell '11 and Tyler Cox '11.

Tom Shea '73, Alumnus, Teacher and Coach, is new Head Football Coach

Fairfield Prep is pleased to announce Tom Shea '73, current English teacher and past Freshman and JV Football coach, has been selected as the new Varsity Football Head Coach. Tom has taught English at Prep since 2005, following a successful business career as founder and chief business executive for several communications ventures. Tom played football for Fairfield Prep and Harvard University, where he received his B.A. He continued his studies at the London School of Economics and Political Science where he earned a Master of Sciences. Tom met with enthusiastic Prep students on January 20, to talk about his new position and the coming season: "I am honored and proud to be named just the 8th coach in Prep football history, and I look forward to working with our young men to revitalize our winning traditions. I feel we have the talent to be a good football team, but it is up to the players and their level of commitment and dedication to determine when that will be."

Columbian Squires inducted

The Knights of Columbus has wanted to establish a Columbian Squires circle at Prep for some time. Thanks to Mr. Bret Stockdale, S.J., theology and social studies teacher, we now have one.

On Sunday, November 8, Fairfield University hosted the annual Business Leaders' Communion Breakfast. Bishop Lori celebrated Mass in Egan Chapel and the breakfast was held afterwards in the BCC Oak Room. The keynote speaker was Carl Anderson, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus.

Prep's newly formed Columbian Squires group, the Rev. Donald M. Barry, S.J. Circle, had the honor of meeting Carl Anderson afterwards. (Father Barry, RIP, was a teacher here at Prep for many years. He also held several high-ranking positions in the Knights of Columbus.) An English teacher's pilgrimage through Europe, following the steps of St. Ignatius Loyola

Spanish Journal: The Swallows of Javier

By Barry Wallace

As so often happens to me, the voice of God speaks through nature. ... I was hearing the sounds of the swallows and they filled the air with wonder. Was this a religious experience, or a natural one?

In a small town outside of Pamplona called Javier, I developed a case of traveler's exhaustion one afternoon. Never much of a group person, I decided I needed some time to myself. I opted not to tour the castle of Francis Xavier (were all Jesuits born in castles? I'll have to ask some of my Jesuit friends when I return). Instead, I sat in the cool quiet of the basilica near the castle and collected my thoughts. Exactly what does it mean to be a modern-day pilgrim, and why had I taken this trip?

The early pilgrims thought the path to Javier would take them to the end of the world. To this day, Javier remains a remote and ruggedly beautiful place — a place where you don't feel silly thinking about God and wondering about the purpose of your life. I looked up at the marble altar covered with sweet-scented lilies. Above the altar, a figure of the Jesuit saint and co-founder stands gazing upward with his arms outstretched. He holds a crucifix in his right hand; a gold halo rings his head. It is the pose of sanctity I recognize from my Catholic school days. But what does it mean to live spiritually today?

I sat for a long while in the church absorbing the coolness and letting my own questions run freely from me. My back stiffened in the wooden pew. I needed to lie down, but I didn't want to go back to my room. I left the church and followed a walkway where I discovered a stone parapet overlooking miles of hills and valleys. I was suddenly aware of standing at a great height, but there wasn't a place to lay my head. I leaned against the church and rested my head on my hands. My eyes were closed when I first heard the high-pitched sounds; I opened them to see dozens of swallows and swifts weaving through the air above me.

These small birds were flying into the towers of the basilica and then soaring out over the stone parapet and high above the fertile valley. They were dancing in the pure air, tumbling, turning and flipping on their own course of evanescence and delight. As so often happens to me, the voice of God speaks through nature. In the hot silence of the afternoon, in this remote village, I was hearing the sounds of the swallows and they filled the air with wonder. Was this a religious experience, or a natural one? Was it a moment of simple beauty or a moment of eternal truth somehow revealed through creation? I didn't care what it was. All at once, history, the church, the saints, the bus travel, the food and the tour places came together for me. The experience transfixed me and I could only let go and let it run its course.

I got up and followed a wooded trail behind the church. The path was blooming with flowers and fragrant herbs — wild valerian and pink mallow. I heard the clear, unmistakable call of a cuckoo in the woods. The upper path took me to a monastery behind the cathedral. Two old priests were sitting in the garden in the heat of the day. My Spanish isn't very good, but it was obvious they were discussing the state of the world. One of the men was gesturing as if to indicate that things had gone to rack and ruin. His friend nodded gently reminding him that nothing really changes and that life is always good. I stood by the stone wall listening to those men in the garden as if they were taking parts of my own soul.

I left them to their conversation and walked to the edge of the land. It dropped off suddenly into a steep ravine. One step more and I would've been floating in space. We were so high up that I could only see the crowns of the tall poplar trees from a great distance. Beneath the trees I could see the sparkling river. Patterned farm fields ran backward toward the foothills. In a manner of speaking I, too, had come to the end of the world.

People have been making pilgrimages for thousands of years for a myriad of reasons. Some come to find God; some to heal a troubled soul; some to heal the body- and some, no doubt, to escape from their life for a while and head out on an interesting journey. I asked myself in the midst of all this overwhelming beauty in the birthplaces of these heroic Jesuits, "What do you feel?"

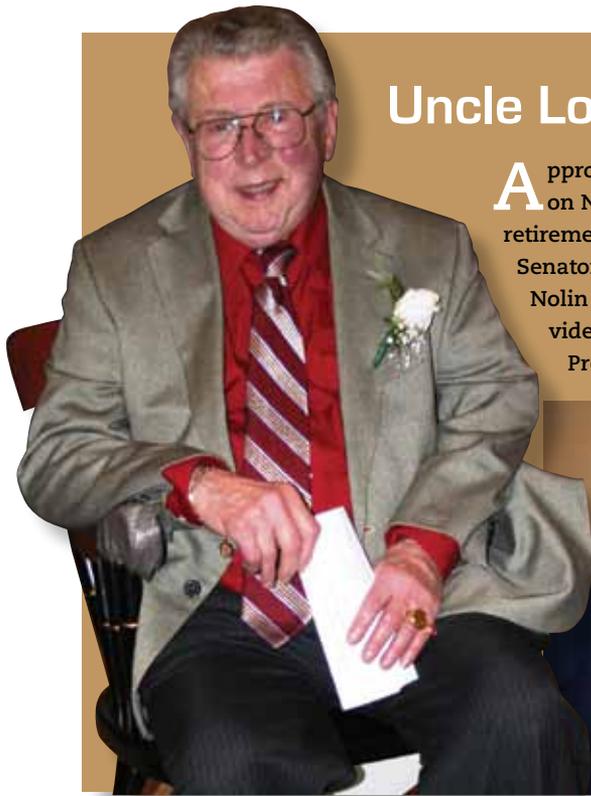

A pilgrim certainly is permitted such questions. In fact, the journey itself follows the curve of a question. Where do we go next? What will it be like? How will I fit there? What part of my soul will be concealed or revealed to me? Our ultimate destination was Rome, where Ignatius founded the Jesuit order, presided over its expansion and growth, and lived out his last years.

This made me think of an old Irish poem I much admire. It was written during a period of dangerous yet ardent pilgrimages, much more difficult than our own plane rides and air-conditioned motor coaches.

To go to Rome
Is much of trouble, little profit;
The King whom thou seekest there,
Unless thou bring Him with thee, thou wilt
Not find.

Of course, it was early Celtic church tweaking their brothers in Rome, but in its unique way it poses the essential question with humor and a wink. When you take a journey of this type into the vast spiritual and material riches of the past, you come to realize something profound. No matter how marvelous the churches you visit, the living faith truly resides in the hearts of people and not in the marble and stone edifices that can only give expression to something that lies too deep for words.

Yet isn't this the very point of a pilgrimage? The travel and the strangeness, the beauty and awe of the way awaken in you what cannot be found at home. Indeed, only the long journey of the foot can penetrate the fathomless distances of the heart. I go back to my father's often-stated belief that all journeys take us home. The swallows of Javier did that for me. They encouraged me to find spiritual meaning in ordinary life. They dove down from the dizzying height of the steeple to skim humble earth. This is the territory of faith joined by tiny wings and the soul of creation.

We left Javier at 9:15 a.m. the next morning and headed across the Spanish desert toward Barcelona. As the bus slowly rolled through the narrow lanes, I looked back at the domed basilica for one last glimpse of the birds. I would find them again in Barcelona and later in St. Peter's Square. With their guidance, I wouldn't lose sight of where I was going and where I had been on this long and challenging pilgrimage.

Great golf at Great River

This year was another success for the Fairfield Prep Annual Golf Outing at the picturesque Great River Golf Club. Ninety eight alumni and friends attended on October 12. As always, a terrific day of golf, food and camaraderie was had by all! A special thanks to the tournament committee chaired by John Chiota '86 (left) and consisting of John Chiota '61; Kevin Foley '73, Tom Welch '83, Jim Butler '86; Alex Oracheff '94, and Kevin Kozlowski '99.

To Larry Carroll, VP Development,
 This gives me an opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to you and your entire staff for staging our reunion. It far surpassed my best expectations! While I understand the superb efforts of our committee, we were so impressed with the professionalism, courtesy, and attention to the myriad of details. You and your team are exceptional; I can tell you we were all so pleased with the entire weekend. You rekindled a strong Prep spirit. I've never attended reunions — Prep, college, nor Law School. I decided to attend our 50th at the last minute. You should be quite proud of running an event we will never forget. Please tell your staff how much we appreciate all they did for us.
 — Best regards, Wes Eastman '59

A PREP TRADITION... Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving is a tradition for the Prep Community. The annual Food Drive collected hundreds of bags of food to help those in nearby communities. The Prep student body assembled at Alumni Hall to give thanks and honor faculty and administration. Cross Country alumni joined with current team members to run the annual Pequot 5 Mile Race. And everyone gathered for the annual football game versus West Haven, reconnecting with friends and showing Fairfield Prep spirit! As St. Ignatius Loyola inspired us, "Lord, teach me to be generous. Teach me to serve you as you deserve; to give and not to count the cost."

The Arrupe Hall foyer was filled to the walls with bags of food donated to ABCD (Action for Bridgeport Community Development), which fed over 2,000 needy families! Seniors from left: Alex Matarazzo, Christian Mead, David Perretta, Ryan Staudt and Carlos Zamora.

L-r: Rev. Larry Ryan, S.J. (26 years), Dr. Donna Andrade (30 years), Mr. John Brennan (30 years), Mr. Tony Canuel (30 years), Mr. Greg Marshall '73 (30 years), Mr. Dave Driscoll (35 years), and Dr. Robert Perrotta (40 years) recognized for outstanding service by Rev. John Hanwell, S.J.

A Prep tradition for 16 years, Dr. Ray Panda '58 has been the voice of Fairfield Prep football for our home games. He retired from announcing at the 2009 Thanksgiving game. Presenting Dr. Panda with a plaque is Athletic Director Steve Donahue '92 (far right). Also pictured with Dr. Panda are his sons Brendan '96 and Ken '88. We thank Dr. Panda for his faithful and serving spirit.

Prep alumni and students annually gather at the Pequot 5 Mile Road Race in Southport on Thanksgiving Day. Any Cross Country alumni should contact Bob Ford Jr. at ford@fairfieldprep.org to join in the race next year.

Volunteering is a Prep way of life for alumni and parents. It's also a wonderful way to support the school and catch up with the Prep Community — at the Fathers' Club Food Tent, Prep Pride table, and selling Tuition Raffle tickets.

Rev. W. Laurence O'Neil, S.J. dies after 50 years of service

For 50 years Fairfield University and Fairfield Prep have been blessed with Fr. Larry O'Neil's warm Irish humor, selfless devotion to the Jesuit mission, and utmost concern for students. He leaves a legacy of thousands of people whose lives he touched and often changed significantly through his priesthood and the several important positions he held on campus. He will be missed.

Born in Westfield, Mass., and raised in Springfield, Fr. O'Neil followed in the path of three uncles when he entered the Society of Jesus in 1948. His first teaching assignment as a Jesuit in 1955 was at Fairfield Prep where he later said his Jesuit vocation was confirmed. After three years of teaching at Prep and working as the Assistant Athletic Director, Fr. O'Neil left for five years of Jesuit studies, returning to Prep as Dean of Students. After earning a master's degree in Adolescent Psychology from Fairfield University, he was asked to establish a formal guidance program at Fairfield Prep.

In 1972 Fr. O'Neil was appointed Director of Career Counseling at Fairfield University where over a span of 15 years, he guided thousands of students as they made the transition from the University into careers and lives of service. Many alumni kept in touch with him over the years, grateful for his impact.

A one-year assignment in 1986 as Dean of Students, turned into seven, followed in 1993 with his appointment as International Student Adviser.

In 1992, Fr. O'Neil's sister, Eileen Stanley, and her husband, John, established the Rev. W. Laurence O'Neil, S.J. Scholarship to help students with financial need. It was especially gratifying to Fr. O'Neil who so often had expressed his concern for students who struggle financially.

Fairfield University and the Alumni Association honored Fr. O'Neil in 2005 with the Alumni Service Award; the Office of Human Resources presented him in 2004 with the "Choice Award." He was named to the Fairfield Prep Hall of Fame in 1981.

Over the years, Fr. O'Neil worked in many parishes in the Diocese of Bridgeport.

At the time of his death he served as chaplain to the Fairfield University alumni and athletic teams. As chaplain to alumni, he performed their weddings and baptisms; he visited the sick and attended countless wakes and funerals. He was particularly effective in his position as chaplain to student athletes, and came to be well-loved by players, coaches, and the Athletic Department staff. His office in the Walsh Athletic Building was much frequented by those who sought his counsel. It should be a great consolation to all who mourn his loss that he found this last service to his beloved Fairfield the most fulfilling and personally satisfying of his long career here.

For individuals who wish to make a gift to the University in Rev. O'Neil's memory, they may do so by giving to the Rev. W. Laurence O'Neil Scholarship Fund at Fairfield University c/o 1073 North Benson Road, Fairfield, CT 06824.

Walsh '82 promoted

US Army officer Michael T. Walsh '82 was promoted to colonel at a ceremony in Murfreesboro, Tenn., on Aug. 6. Brigadier General Max Haston, assistant adjutant general-Army, Tennessee National Guard, presided over the ceremony. He is a distinguished military graduate of Northeastern University and subsequently earned advanced degrees from Troy State University and King's College, London, England.

Before his current assignment as team chief for an advisory team headed to Iraq, he was professor of military science at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro. He has held numerous troop and staff assignments throughout his nearly 22 years on active duty.

In September, he leads a 10-man advisory team to a base just south of Baghdad for a 12-month deployment. His team is charged with coaching and advising the leadership of an Iraqi Army division. Col. Walsh and his family live in Brentwood, Tenn.

Marsan '91 deployed

National Guard Staff Sgt. Nick Marsan '91 who works as a Westport firefighter and lives in Norwalk, is one of more than 1,000 Connecticut soldiers and airmen who will leave for mobilization stations, where they'll be trained before shipping out to Afghanistan in early 2010. It'll be his first deployment overseas, although he served in the Army for nearly a decade in the 1990s. About three years ago, he joined the Guard with his brother "to kind of finish what I started," he said.

While it would be a lie to say he isn't fearful at the prospect of going to war, Marsan said that fear "helps call us to action. I'm prepared and I'm staying focused."

He enjoys the camaraderie of the Guard, and the common dedication to each other and country, he said, adding that the typical reasons for enlisting have always been duty to country, state and fellow soldier.
